Andrew Lewis Esq

Dear Sir

Two weeks have expired since I had the pleasure of seeing you at my house on the subject of the line fence between your property and Fort Hill. It is important to you and your family, as well as to ourselves, that we should continue to be good friends and good neighbours. I am sure that your desires are in accordance with ours. When you were at my house I understood you to say that you would see Mr. McKay and fix a time to adjust the line beyond dispute and prevent any misunderstanding. I was then in the receipt of a letter from your son signed J. Earle Lewis. That letter among other things states "I suppose you are not aware that I own the land next to you." I understood you to say on the evening of your friendly visit that you had made titles to the land adjoining Fort Hill, to your son Richard Lewis.

I am very anxious to avoid all causes of misunderstanding or dispute and therefore drop you this friendly note to learn if you have seen or made any arrangement with Mr. McKay. As we both desire the same end, it is of the utmost importance that there should be full concurrence & thus avoid all future cause for dispute misunderstanding or litigation

Yours very truly

Thos. G. Clemson

Over,

N.B. This letter was written yesterday, as Jonas is going to the village to day, and it is important we should have the matter settled in order to make the fences this fine weather. I will send him by Mr. McKays and ask him to appoint an early day for coming out and will notify you when he will be able to come.

T.B.C.

Enclosed with this
